

Working With You

A great portrait is a collaboration between photographer and subject. When both are working together the result is far more than what comes from direction alone.

Understanding my clients helps me create images that truly reflect their personalities and wedding day . To help achieve this goal, I offer the following series of questions to couples.

How did you meet?

What do you enjoy doing together?

When did you know he/she was the one?

What's most important to you about your wedding?

Photos aside, what do you like your wedding to be?

What's most important about your photographs, is there something special you want to capture?

What is the most anticipated moment of your wedding day?

Have you ever been part of a wedding, seen a wedding photographer in action, etc.?

What's your favorite memory from a wedding you attended?

Are there any must-have photos?

Who are the most important people in your wedding and are there any special relationships to be aware of?

Do you have a special location you'd like us to check out?

What does your wedding dress look like?

What colors are you incorporating in your wedding day?

What are the names of EVERYONE in your wedding party?

Explaining how you like to look in photos

If you had to choose one photograph to walk away from your wedding day with, what would it be?
